with the Sisters

This year, Duke Students are encountering a new witness of life in the Church through two new additions to the Duke Catholic Center staff: Sister Marcia Ternes and Sister Mary Peter Ryan from the Franciscan Sisters of the Eucharist.

The sisters are adding a fresh evangelistic presence to the Duke community through their witness to religious life, while also serving as campus ministers as the DCC seeks to help more Duke Students grow as disciples in Christ.

"I'm excited for all the wisdom and companionship the sisters will have to share," said Annie Janick '19. "And to learn how they live into their role as women in the Church."

Sr. Marcia Ternes, F.S.E. joins the staff as Director of Faith Formation. She will fulfill the position formerly held by Catherine Preston, who will now serve as a full-time director for the DCC's growing small group ministry. Sr. Mary Peter Ryan, F.S.E. will also be involved in student ministry as the Director for Retreats and Pilgrimages. The Sisters' warm, personal approach to ministry and extensive

Meet the Sisters

SR. MARCIA TERNES, FSE

Sr. Marcia Ternes has served the Church extensively across multiple ministries, personally starting Franciscan Home Care as a hospice care service, serving the poor in Jamaica at St. Mary's Church of Above Rocks in Jamaica, and serving as a member of the Voice of Catholic Advocates for Life.

Sr. Mary Peter Ryan is familiar with the workings of higher education, having completed a BA in History from George Mason University. She is currently working on her MA in Philosophical Theology from Holy Apostles College. An avid basketball player and former high school teacher, Sr. Mary Peter has accompanied countless students in the journeys of faith and life alike.

experience will make it easier than ever for students to find a welcoming home in the Catholic Church at Duke.

“The sisters are awesome,” said Maria ter Weele ’20. “I’ve gotten to know Sr. Marcia a little and she is so motherly - in the best way. She genuinely wants to know what’s happening in my life every time we speak.”

Sisters Marcia and Mary Peter will additionally serve as evangelizing presences on campus through example and lifestyle. Everything from their distinctive dress to their lives of service and prayer stand as a powerful witness for the Duke community. Through Sr. Marcia and Sr. Mary Peter, Catholic Duke Students encounter another opportunity to experience the joys of Christian living and community.

A Home for the Sisters

Last Spring semester, the Duke Catholic Center was busy purchasing and setting up the sisters’ home located only 15 minutes away from campus. Then in May, six Franciscan Sisters of the Eucharist traveled to Durham to join over fifty members of the Duke Catholic Center for a special convent blessing ceremony and dinner. The newly-established convent has become the home for Sisters Marcia Ternes, F.S.E. and Mary Peter Ryan, F.S.E.

“We got to welcome them to Duke, our home,” said Annie Janick ’19. “So it felt special to receive that welcome from them at their new home.”

Fr. James McCurry, Minister Provincial for the Conventual Franciscans, and Msgr. David Brockman, Vicar General for the Diocese of Raleigh, joined Duke Students, DCC staff, Duke University officials and DCC Advisory Board members in witnessing the blessing of the convent. The evening was a celebration of the work of the Spirit bringing more disciples into the vineyard at Duke.

Thanks to all the donors that have made this huge blessing possible!

FR. MIKE'S REFLECTION

“If you want to build a ship, don't herd people together to collect wood and don't assign them tasks and work, but rather teach them to long for the endless immensity of the sea.”

- ANTOINE
DE SAINT-EXUPERY

When our Strategic Plan called for us to explore the possibility of bringing a community of religious women to our ministry, I was often asked the obvious “what would they do?” The beauty of religious life in the Catholic Church, however, is more about being than about doing. While Sr. Marcia and Sr. Mary Peter have very specific job descriptions, the main reason for their presence on Duke's campus is their witness as vowed religious. The Church has many gifts but the same Spirit, and among these gifts is that of allowing your life of love and service to Christ to be a witness of the life to come in heaven which we all hope to enjoy. Without a witness to the joy that can come from total dedication to Christ in love, how could we truly teach Duke students to long for the endless immensity of heaven? As vowed religious ourselves, Fr. Brad and I hopefully give this witness as well. But with the presence of the Franciscan Sisters of the Eucharist in our midst, our students can now see how women live this in the Church. I am so grateful for their presence and for the supporters who made this dream a reality.

I have never been a lover of poetry. It has always seemed so abstract for me, and I find myself more of a practical thinker. I am certain that this lacuna in my education and life has caused more than a few hiccoughs over the years, but I sense that this leaning toward a more action-based approach may be listing in another direction. While I have not taken to Whitman, Dickenson and Frost, I have found myself more comfortable lately with reflecting on life rather than always seeking to act on it. A subtle difference certainly, but one that has not so subtle consequences, especially here at the Duke Catholic Center.

It is interesting how an Annual Report, like the ancient Greek god Janus, has us looking backward and forward at the same time. These pages are filled with names of so many who have supported our mission, empowering us to Belong, Believe and Become. The latest iteration of our Strategic Plan is in full bloom and it seems as if there is much yet to be done - or am I just swinging back into action mode? These days of crisis in the Church (cf. My Column August 22, 2018) challenge us to realize that unless we are continuously rooted in the grace of the Holy Spirit - a state of being more than doing - any one of us can be led astray with disastrous, criminal, and sinful effects whose scars will be long visible. Oriented toward action as I am, I have felt so powerless in these weeks to make a difference. What can I say to offer hope to our students who stand at times in disbelief? I believe, however, that teaching Duke students to long for the endless immensity of God's love cannot be done in a sterile environment. Rather, in this life, it is done at times through the lens of sin and suffering, through trial and tribulation, through scandal and brokenness. Ultimately, we long for the endless immensity of God's mercy. And it is that gift that stirs us to action, trusting that our weakness is not the final answer, but rather the means by which God will allow greater glory to be made manifest.

As this past year has been both blessing in abundance and mercy in abundance, so may we find ways to witness to our students at Duke that there is hope in our future for even greater blessing and mercy. And may our plans not simply assign students task and work, but rather teach them to long for the immensity of God. It is only in that fashion that they will be inspired to take their rightful place as adults baptized to build the Kingdom of God.

DUKE CATHOLIC CENTER STRATEGIC PLAN 2017-2020

"PUT OUT INTO DEEP WATER AND LOWER YOUR NETS FOR A CATCH."

(LUKE 5:4)

WITH OUR STRATEGIC PLAN COMPLETING ITS FIRST YEAR, THERE HAS BEEN SOME PROGRESS TO CELEBRATE, SOME INITIATIVES STILL TO BE ENGAGED, AND SOME CHANGES THAT WERE MADE AS OUR REALITY CONTINUES TO EVOLVE. HERE ARE JUST A FEW OF THE STRATEGIES THAT HAVE ALREADY BEGUN TO MAKE A DIFFERENCE IN THE PAST YEAR.

I. BELONG

We joyfully participate in a full, conscious and active celebration of the sacramental life.

- A. 40-50% OF CATHOLIC STUDENTS ENGAGE IN THE CATHOLIC COMMUNITY AT LEAST ONCE PER SEMESTER BY MAY 2020.
- Social media, especially Instagram, has been successfully used in a far more targeted manner to create more effective marketing of DCC events.
  - A number of DCC swag items have been produced that promote a healthy pride in and appreciation of the Catholic faith.
  - Service opportunities have taken off, but none as much as Thursday sandwich making on the Plaza for the poor that create community buy-in and ownership.
- B. 30-35% OF CATHOLIC STUDENTS ATTEND WEEKLY SUNDAY MASS BY MAY 2020.
- The DCC has worked with Duke Transportation to improve challenges that students on East Campus face getting to Sunday Mass.
  - Students involved in liturgical ministry can now do online training and come together for prayer before the Mass they serve.
  - A series of inserts have been created for the Sunday Mass program to help students learn more effective ways of engaging the Mass.

II. BELIEVE

We encounter and know Jesus more deeply by sharing the faith with others.

- C. 125-150 CATHOLIC STUDENTS ON AVERAGE PARTICIPATE IN VIBRANT FAITH-SHARING GROUPS ON A WEEKLY BASIS BY MAY 2020.
- The DCC is sharing student small group testimonials in regular DCC communications to allow students to hear what other students are saying about their experiences.
  - A specific intention is included regularly in the Sunday Mass intercessions for those participating in Small Groups.
  - Small Group leaders are the backbone of this ministry and have been a focus of the DCC's gratitude and outreach in order to encourage them in their ministry.
- D. CATHOLIC STUDENTS EXPLORE AND DEEPEN THEIR KNOWLEDGE OF THE CATHOLIC FAITH THROUGH FAITH FORMATION OPPORTUNITIES BY MAY 2020.
- The DCC Lecture Series is now regularly recorded and posted online with additional video of student reactions to the specific speakers.
  - The DCC Spiritual Library continues to be upgraded to provide print materials as well as online video resources for student use.

III. BECOME

We actively live the faith by becoming lifelong devoted disciples of Jesus Christ in the world.

- E. 20-25% OF CATHOLIC STUDENTS EMBRACE THE DESIRE AND DISCIPLINE OF DAILY PRAYER THROUGH RESOURCES AND OPPORTUNITIES PROVIDED BY DUKE CATHOLIC CENTER BY MAY 2020.
- Regular campus rosary groups have been added to the weekly DCC schedule.
  - Inspiring posters have been installed in all of the Duke busses to offer students a brief reflective prayer during their commute.
  - Prayer and meditation options are being developed for the DCC app.
  - DCC staff and trained students are individually mentoring more students in prayer and discipleship.
- F. 20-25% OF CATHOLIC SENIORS PARTICIPATE IN A PROGRAM THAT FACILITATES FAITH LIFE POST-DUKE BY MAY 2020.
- The DCC has begun surveying recent graduates regarding their post-grad experience to better understand post-Duke faith life challenges.
  - A list of recent graduates is being created to provide support for new graduates as well as to offer content that may enhance their spiritual journey.

REMEMBERING FR. JOE VETTER

This year, the Duke Catholic community bid farewell to Reverend Joseph G. Vetter who passed away on May 7, 2018. More fondly known on campus and to friends as Fr. Joe, his ministry and leadership has left an impact on Catholic life at Duke and the Catholic Church in North Carolina that cannot be contained in this piece.

Over his 44 years of active priesthood, Fr. Joe served as editor of The North Carolina Catholic newspaper, Director of Communications for the Diocese of Raleigh, and pastor for parishes in Cary, Durham, Raleigh, Siler City, Southport, and Wrightsville Beach. But his 12 years at Duke have left a global impact as he ministered to students who are now forming Christ-centered families, engaging in Catholic parishes, and building the Kingdom across the country and the world.

As the Director of the Duke Catholic Center from 1998-2010, Fr. Joe met students wherever they were in their spiritual journey, guiding them to mature Catholic adulthood. From his sermons to his conversations with students, Fr. Joe was authentic, relatable, and informal – a recipe which enabled him to build relationships with students and staff that have lasted decades.

“Fr. Joe married my wife Lindsey and I at the Duke Chapel in 2006 after I had gotten to know him as an undergrad and medical student,” said Nick Viens T '03, MD '07. “We kept in touch and he truly became part of our extended family, and I think the feeling was mutual. Our family will miss him dearly, though we are comforted to know he is watching over us all now.”

Beyond his pastoral care, Fr. Joe's vision and leadership also grew the Duke Catholic Center from a two-man shop to a team of six by the time he left in 2010. In particular, he established the position of Peer Ministry Coordinator, an opportunity for Duke Students to experience life in Catholic ministry before moving on to medical school, engineering jobs, non-profit work, and more.

It is also thanks to Fr. Joe's direction and foresight that the Catholic community at Duke is blessed with the Falcone-Arena House. Just off East Campus, the Falcone-Arena House is a hub for Catholic life. Students of all ages and programs flock to the house each year for meetings with staff, to find study space, for game nights with friends, or even to pray before the Blessed Sacrament in the chapel. It is a place where Duke Students can feel at home and cared for in a personal way.

Fr. Joe's life and legacy at Duke (and certainly beyond) offer a reminder that at the heart of evangelization is a willingness to get involved, to listen and understand the needs of the individual, and to embrace the messiness of human life as you walk with others in their journey of life with Christ.

“He was truly a special priest who played a big role in my life,” said Gillian Burns '03. “Fr. Joe was a close friend during my time at Duke and after graduation. He prayed for me through the biggest challenge of my life. I will forever be indebted to him. He will be missed.”

PRAY WITH ME

Thanks to a generous gift by David and Karen Cutcliffe, this summer the Duke Catholic Center published the 2nd edition of the Pray With Me, a prayer book for Duke Students. The first edition was published five years ago. While it contained traditional Catholic prayers along with a guide to the Sacrament of Reconciliation, Pray with Me was unique because it also included prayers and reflections written by Duke Students for Duke Students for all different occasions: prayers for school, family, relationships, and the future. It also included reflections about prayer from prominent Duke Faculty and staff like Coach K. In this new edition, the DCC also emphasized praying with the Scriptures, an essential component of the DCC's rapidly growing small group ministry. Thirty students wrote these prayers after reflection on various Gospel passages in this new "Praying with Scripture" section.

Pray with Me has already made an impact. The book, which is free for all Duke Students, was included in the freshman welcome bag handed out to all freshman students at the beginning of the semester. It was also available to all upperclassmen after Mass.

Pray with Me was dedicated to the memory of Martha Frances Limbaugh Cutcliffe who led a long life of prayer that enabled her ability to serve her family and friends as Christ called her. Pray with Me is available to non-students for $10. Please contact michelle.sutton@duke.edu if you are interested in receiving a copy of Pray with Me.

Emilia Grzesiak '20 flips through the DCC's new prayer book.

Excerpts from Pray with Me:

"Prayer is our privilege - the privilege to have a powerful conversation with God."

- Coach Mike Krzyzewski Head Men's Basketball Coach

"Good and gracious God, you've called us to serve you in a unique way in our vocation as students. As we seek to understand your love and mercy, we also seek to grow in knowledge. Grasping the idea that growth in knowledge doesn't just occur in the classroom, but in our everyday experiences as students, we call upon the intercession of your Mother, our Mother Mary. Let us seek to learn more about your Sacred Heart, Jesus, with every interaction both in and out of the classroom."

- A Student's Prayer by Seth McGann '20

"Jesus you seem like a ghost, a mere idea or illusion to me until I cry out to you in prayer. Come Holy Spirit, teach me how to step onto the waters, how to pray and listen to your Word. Let me hear your voice personally calling out to me so that I may respond in faith like Peter as you call me out of my boat of complacency, comfort, and fear."

- Prayer on Matthew 14:22-33, in which Jesus walks on water, by Luke Duchemin '18. In the summer of 2018, Luke entered seminary with the Conventual Franciscans.

This year, the Duke Catholic Center expanded the summer internship program to three internships, adding full-time positions in both communications and music, alongside the existing ministry internship developed back in 2014.

At the DCC, where the majority of the programming is staffed and run by students, there has historically been a void in DCC programming when student leaders leave for the summer. The expanded summer internship program allows the DCC to continue a full ministry schedule and outreach for the hundreds of students that remain in Durham taking summer classes or working in labs or internships in Durham. The internship program is an opportunity for young people to experience ministry in the Church, these internships also bring fresh ideas and boundless energy to the DCC staff and ministries.

SUMMER STAFF EXPANSION

Anna Speed, a rising senior from University of Georgia who served as this summer's Ministry Intern, was kept busy with activities ranging from preparing Tuesday Night Dinners to facilitating an undergraduate small group every week. On Sundays, Anna organized liturgical ministers, invited new volunteers, and personally greeted community members at each Mass.

"It's difficult to comprehend all the ways in which I have grown personally, and more importantly, as a disciple of Christ, this summer," says Anna. "This internship has helped me grow in prayer, form intentional relationships, and develop a love for the Mass and the Gospels."

Over the summer, social media and email are key for connecting with students who are away from campus. Mike Bondulic, a rising senior at Catholic University, stepped into the new Communication Intern position, helping create and curate content that would speak to Duke Students. "When I was interviewing for the position, the first thing that came to my mind was the intersection between evangelization and social media," says Mike. "It was cool this summer trying to capture the joy of our Catholic faith and putting it in an Instagram post or Tweet."

Yet the interns did not merely provide outreach or ministry; they became a part of the Duke Catholic community.

Thomas Connor, a rising sophomore at Notre Dame, spent the summer expanding the Music Ministry at Duke, while fully immersing himself in the community, as well.

"I had a great time working in the Music Ministry at the DCC," says Thomas. "I love the community that Andrew creates with his singers and musicians, and I have felt welcome there since day one."

This summer, these interns got a chance to share in the vision, community, and ministry of the Catholic Church here at Duke. The time and talent they offered up this summer have already impacted Duke Students both in Durham and around the world, and their hard work will continue to be felt by students in the many coming months.
